What you do that meet this level	I collect and present online resources suitable for my students by age and subject by trying to structure all inclusive modes (non-native, dyslexic or otherwise skilled). I create appropriate teaching materials and share them. I guide students in the autonomous and collaborative production of teaching materials. I share and guide my colleagues in using the tools I have experienced. I prepare the lessons by looking for resources on the network, but I often create multimedia media myself, even by leveraging OER resources. To allow students to review and deepen their material through the class blog. I often involve groups of pupils in creating resources or re-elaborating materials. I refer to my school also for my colleagues and others are following my example. So I create tutorials and video tutorials to explain step by step how to do it.
